Haneda Airport hosts Japan's First Bonded Art Auction by the International Auction Alliance

Japan Airport Building Co., Ltd. (JAT) and its subsidiary company, Haneda Future Research Institute, Inc., (HFRI) invite and host a special bonded art auction*¹ United Asian Auctioneers "Shinwa Auction × LARASATI × iART auction × KUANGSHI × A|A|A × ISE COLLECTION" in Haneda Airport on March 30, 2022.

Haneda Airport has been serving as the gateway to Japan, a hub to connect domestic and international destinations, but it also aims to become a hub for cultural exchange within Japan and with other countries. JAT and HFRI are working together to utilize the airport facilities and the self-operated bonded storage area to cultivate more interests and understanding towards arts and culture and to expand the Japanese art market. For this endeavor, we collaborate with international auction alliance, for the first time to host this bonded art auction to expand more access of arts and culture to the wider audience. JAT and HFRI take this opportunity to showcase the world-class art and its trend and to promote the arts. By looking into the future of after-corona phase, this is the one of the first steps to pursue bringing more global auction houses for the cultural exchange and revitalization of the arts and culture industry.

Under the framework of the United Asian Auctioneers alliance*², this art auction is held with the leadership of Shinwa Auction Co., Ltd. (Japan) and the participation of multiple auction houses from Japan and abroad, and this is the Japan's first alliance-run bonded art auction

Including Andy Warhol's Liz series, which has been sold for over 3 billion JPY worldwide, Yayoi Kusama, Nagao Yamaguchi, Paul Delvaux, Ryusei Kishida, Tetsuya Ishida, Rokkaku Ayako, and Miwa Komatsu, it features 239 lots of modern, postwar, contemporary, and NFT art. The preview is held at two venues, Ginza and Haneda Airport, and bonded works from overseas are only shown in the Haneda's bonded warehouse.
