

Invitations Open for the Tokyo-London Green Finance Seminar 2024

The Tokyo Metropolitan Government (TMG) and the City of London Corporation are pleased to announce the upcoming Tokyo-London Green Finance Seminar 2024, in partnership with the British Embassy Tokyo.

In the seventh edition of this seminar, we will introduce the latest information and advanced initiatives that contribute to the growth of green finance, including trends in "nature finance*," which has recently garnered global attention.

This seminar is part of Tokyo Sustainable Finance Week, a series of events dedicated to promoting sustainable finance. We invite finance professionals, residents and students, and anyone with an interest in investment and environmental issues to join us.

* In this seminar, nature finance refers to financial efforts aimed at the realization of a nature positive economy, including information disclosures by companies, investments by financial institutions and others, and funding for technologies that contribute to biodiversity.
